APOLOGY FROM THE STATE GOVERNMENT OF VICTORIA

GARDS is extremely pleased with the Premiers response to its efforts to obtain an apology for the power workers & their families of Latrobe Valley, who were exposed to asbestos as a result of working in the state, owned power stations. The sitting of parliament in Gippsland on the 15th of October at Monash University, Churchill will be forever remembered by GARDS members and all those who have been touched by asbestos disease in Gippsland. Asbestos sufferers and their families were finally recognised by the Victorian State Government, for the pain and suffering that they have endured through their exposure from the State Electricity Commission of Victoria (SECV). The apology is long over due and a welcome recognition to the men, women and their children who have given so much to make Victoria what it is today. Vicki Hamilton, Secretary of GARDS, stated that the apology at this time would help to give a deeply meaningful cleansing of hurt and betrayal cont. P. 2.

Premier Brumby met with some 40 members of GARDS at a private morning tea when parliament recessed for the morning break. Pictured here are from left seated Ivy Fanning, Premier John Brumby, Vicki Hamilton and Dorothy Roberts standing that has been felt by thousands here who diligently and honestly went about their work, not knowing that many of them and their families would die of a work related disease, which could have been prevented. The Premier has shown a sense of justice and compassion and will be forever remembered.

We have included the apology made by Premier John Brumby for your interest.

ADDRESS BY PREMIER

Mr BRUMBY \(Premier\) -- At the outset today I want to acknowledge the traditional owners of the land on which we stand -- the Gunai Kurnai people -- and pay my respects to their elders, past and present. I thank Mr Wayne Thorpe for the welcome to his country today. I also acknowledge the mayor of Latrobe City Council, Cr Bruce Lougheed; the vice-chancellor of Monash University, Richard Larkins, who is with us today; and the pro vice-chancellor of the university's Churchill campus, Helen Bartlett.

At the outset I also want to thank Monash University for the use of this magnificent facility. I also thank the people of Churchill, the Latrobe Valley and Gippsland for the hospitality they have extended to us for this regional sitting.

The Latrobe Valley is literally the powerhouse of the Victorian economy. Sir John Monash -- the engineer and Anzac general after whom this university is named -- was a great Victorian and was once described as 'a man with petrol in his veins and a computer in his head'; he pioneered the Latrobe Valley's brown coal power stations.

The SECV (State Electricity Commission of Victoria) was formed in 1919. It transmitted its first electricity to Melbourne in 1924 and by the 1950s was powering most of the state. To quote the eminent historian, Professor Geoffrey Blainey:

The Latrobe Valley and its chain of growing towns became the pride of Victoria.

The electricity generated in the region drove the rapid expansion of manufacturing between the two world wars and the population boom of the post-war years. I think it is true to say that without the area's cheap and plentiful supply of electricity, Victoria would not be as competitive as it is nor would we be as prosperous as we are.

The resources of the Latrobe Valley and the resourcefulness of its people have for 84 years powered Victoria's success. Besides producing 85 per cent of Victoria's electricity, this part of Victoria has large dairy and cattle industries, paper pulp and manufacturing mills, a world-class university -- in this campus alone I think there are more than 2500 students -- and great wineries like Narkoojee and Coalville Vineyard, which we have grown to love over the years, as well as the region having a vibrant sporting and cultural life.

It is in every sense of the word a region with real energy, a competitive business environment and a strong sense of community.

Just last Sunday, Traralgon for the first time hosted the start of the oldest professional cycling stage race -- the Jayco Herald Sun Tour.

Tonight the council will host a reception for Parliament in the Latrobe Regional Gallery -- a magnificent gallery and one which our government redeveloped in partnership with the Latrobe City Council.

I can remember, though, very different times in the Latrobe Valley. A decade ago -- before our government was first elected -- the Latrobe Valley was doing it tough. The former SECV had been broken up, job losses were significant, and the local community had received little assistance from federal or state governments.

I can remember coming to this campus for a major business forum in 2000, which was attended by hundreds of business and community leaders throughout the region. Local community leaders urged our then new government to set up a task force to identify the best ways to restore confidence, investment and jobs in this region. In 2001 the then Premier, Steve Bracks, responded to the community by establishing the Latrobe Valley ministerial task force, which I chaired. We spent several months listening to the local community. We made 50 recommendations, which totalled well over $100 million of new government investment, and I am pleased to say that every recommendation was implemented.

Since then, over the last eight years, we have also rebuilt, renovated or extended 40 local schools; we have brought back the Latrobe Regional Hospital and added a new cancer care ward; we have invested in water projects like the Gippsland Water Factory; we have rolled out natural gas connections to Korumburra, Leongatha, Bairnsdale, Paynesville, Inverloch and Wonthaggi; we have returned train services to Bairnsdale; we have delivered 78 extra train services a week to Warragul, Moe, Morwell, Drouin and Traralgon; we have supported the region's dairy farmers by funding around 150 dairy cattle underpasses; and of course we have attracted major significant new investment to the area, like Australian Paper's $350 million upgrade of its Maryvale mill. We have worked hard to make Gippsland and the Latrobe Valley a great place to live, work, invest and raise a family.

That is why since 1999 unemployment in this area has been halved, population growth has more than doubled, and the value of building approvals has almost tripled. It is a very different Latrobe Valley to that of the 1990s. That is why we want to drive new investment and jobs in this region to secure its sustainability and prosperity. We want to do that by establishing Clean Coal Victoria in the valley, by investing $125 million in carbon capture and storage technologies, and by partnering with the Clinton Climate Initiative to see further investment in this region. That is why, during this parliamentary session, this Assembly will debate legislation vital to the future of the valley -- such as the Greenhouse Gas Geological Sequestration Bill -- and this afternoon we will also, in partnership with the Minister for Energy and Resources, deliver a ministerial statement on energy.

It is also why during this session we will pass the Asbestos Diseases Compensation Bill.

Victims of asbestos exposure deserve the right to provisional damages and they deserve an apology. With that in mind I want to take this opportunity today to acknowledge an injury that has been ignored for too long. On behalf of the Victorian government and the community I want to say sorry and to express our regret for the pain and the suffering felt by some former power industry workers and their families where that was caused by asbestos exposure at the former SECV. Some workers and families have endured intolerable suffering, including the slow and painful effects of lung cancer, asbestosis and mesothelioma. The government sincerely apologises to these workers and their families for the injuries caused by the exposure at the SECV.

Victoria banned the use of asbestos in 2003, but we understand that some former workers and their families, through going about their daily work, are still suffering the impact of asbestos exposure.

It is unacceptable that any person, through the course of their work, is exposed to what we now know is a deadly substance. I hope this apology goes some way to bringing closure and resolution for families who are suffering from asbestos-related diseases.

I know that members of the Gippsland Asbestos Related Diseases Support (GARDS) group are in the public gallery today. These are Victorians who know all too well the meaning of the words pain and suffering. GARDS has provided me with numerous case studies that are truly heartbreaking and they underscore the human cost of asbestos-related diseases. Today I just wanted to bring to the attention of the house from the many cases that have been presented to me one example of the hardship which has been caused and why this apology is so appropriate. This is the case of a 41-year-old man -- married, with two children aged 18 and 12 -- who was diagnosed with mesothelioma. This man had never worked at the power station.

He was exposed to asbestos as a child when his father would come home from work at the power station with asbestos on his clothes and give his child a cuddle, as you do when you come home from work. Once he was diagnosed, he underwent photodynamic surgery to gain a few more months of life and was in constant pain. This man's father, who had unwittingly exposed his son to asbestos, had to watch him suffer and die at the age of 44.

There are many more case studies like this of people who have mesothelioma, asbestos-related lung cancer, and asbestosis. As GARDS has noted:

The untold damage that has been done to the families of these sufferers is just too painful to express in words. There are so many families who have lost their fathers, mothers and even their children to this deadly material.

The social and emotional distress that is felt in our community will linger for decades to come.

I want to thank GARDS for the wonderful work it does with people suffering from asbestos-related diseases, and for the assistance that it has given in the preparation of today's apology. I also want to thank two of the members for the Eastern Victoria Region in the Legislative Council, Johan Scheffer and Matt Viney, for the work they have done on this issue, for raising this matter with me and for suggesting that an apology would be appropriate.

In conclusion, I want to once again thank the people of Churchill for hosting the Legislative Assembly today. It is a wonderful thing to bring Parliament to the people. We do this only once each session of Parliament, and I remember the last time we met in Geelong. I think it was a great opportunity and a great gathering in Geelong, and this gathering will be no different.

The people of this region, the people of Gippsland and the Latrobe Valley, are resilient. They are diverse and have a very strong sense of community. That is why they were able to fight back from economic adversity in the 1990s. That is why they fought back from floods, drought and bushfires in recent years; and that is why they fought for recognition of the affects of asbestos-related diseases. That resilience and community spirit -- that resourcefulness -- is what makes this resource-rich region so strong.

Last night, with the Minister for Energy and Resources and the Minister for Regional and Rural Development, I met with key representatives of the energy industry in the Latrobe Valley. We discussed the challenges that face our energy sector and the key role that the Latrobe Valley can play in helping to meet the energy needs of both our state and Australia. We discussed the importance of clean coal technology, carbon capture and storage as well as the significant investment opportunities, which arise from further development in this region. We considered the range of partnerships between government and the private sector which will be required to bring these investments to fruition.

Our government looks forward to listening to and working with the people of the Latrobe Valley in the days, weeks, months and years ahead. We look forward to building a better future for every community and every family. Speaking as Premier and the former chair of the Latrobe Valley ministerial task force, it is a genuine pleasure to be back in Churchill for this regional sitting.

ASBESTOS AWARENESS WEEK

A VERY GENEROUS DONATION FROM A FAMILY THAT CARES

Thank You

Donation in Memory of Roberta Gore

GARDS would like to acknowledge the generous donation made by the Gore family of Yallourn North and Morwell of a pre-loved mobility scooter, which was owned by Roberta Gore. The donation was made in memory of their mother Roberta and we thank the families very much. It will be a welcome addition to our equipment bank.

THANK YOU ABB AUSTRALIA

Pictured here are: Two representatives of ABB Australia – Kaye and Warren

Once again we would like to say thank you to this terrific company for thinking of us. As ABB Australia were moving on from Yallourn Power station they decided to donate a second hand computer to the GARDS organisation. We will surely find a use for such a great gift. GARDS recently received a very nice letter from one of the executives of ABB Australia telling us how much they admired what we did in the community. We could not do this good work without such wonderful support from companies like ABB Australia. We have made, we think, some really great friends and it has been a privilege to get to know some of the employees of this community minded company. Thank you from all at GARDS

ONE CAREER ENDING AND A LIFE OF HAPPINESS TO COME

An update on our beloved namesake GARDS Goose. GARDS Goose had too many injuries to keep running, so the decision to retire him was made. The good news is that our lovely dog has such a wonderful temperament that it was decided to put him into the adoption program and be re-educated as a family pet. Families have advised us that grey hounds make wonderful pets and are sort after, so we are very happy that GARDS Goose will retire to become a family's beloved dog. From all at GARDS we wish him well in his new life. He has taught us so much about racing and the spirit to keep going against the odds. Good luck GARDS Goose you deserve a great life with a loving family!!

SEASONS GREETINGS

We would like to wish all our supporters a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. If you are heading off for holidays over the festive season please take care and drive carefully.

Well we have had another very busy year again at GARDS and again we have made some significant strides forward with asbestos issues, but we still have a long way to go. We wish to say thank you for all the support we have received from individuals and organisations alike. We could not do this without the support and encouragement we receive from you, the community. We will endeavour to continue to strive to bring continued support and education in the coming year 2009 and to increase the awareness to the community on asbestos and its dangers. From all of the GARDS committee have a wonderful Christmas and we will see you in the New Year.

Crown Palladium was again the venue for this year's WorkSafe Annual Awards Dinner on Thursday 30th of October. The dinner is held in WorkSafe Week and attracts just on 1000 people. They come together from all walks of life to celebrate the achievements being gained in good work practices. This year's event was no exception with many bright and innovative ideas coming out of practical experience. It is always special to hear about someone or something that is inspired through personal experience and we certainly saw some very talented individuals and teams display their creativity to address dangers to people's health and safety.

GARDS were lucky enough to be invited to the dinner where we had a great time and met some very interesting people. Steve was one of the people who sat at our table and we enjoyed some great conversations over dinner. It is always nice to meet people who have like minds on keeping workers safe.

ANNUAL OH&S DAY 2008

Over 1500 OHS Reps from around the state converged on the Melbourne Exhibition and Convention Centre on the banks of the Yarra River on Thursday 30th of October to discuss best OHS standards possible. GARDS had their annual display giving out information and introducing Asbestos Pete who was donned with the Asbestos In the Home removal kit. We bought our own TV so that we could share the DVD that comes in the kit and thus enlighten those interested in the right way to remove small amounts of domestic asbestos from their homes. Reps come from all over the state to the event, the biggest in the Southern Hemisphere. We always look forward to attending this event as we catch up with people who sometimes we only talk to by phone for the whole year or only see at the event. Each year we seem to pick up new ideas and initiatives in the OH&S areas. GARDS believes these events are very important in keeping the work force up to date on information and the latest in OH&S standards and by the way we always have a great time meeting everyone.

Thank You

The GARDS organisation wish to say a big thank you to the following individuals & organisations who support us with donations.

Gerald Coulson,
2 x G & J Crosby's Contractors,
Stan & Ivy Brown,
Mr & Mrs L Hall,
Morwell CWA,
Maurice Blackburn law firm for their generous donation to our organisation; we appreciate this support very much. A special thank you to Andrew Dimsey for making this happen.

What a privilege it was to again visit the Gippsland Water Factory and this time it was for a wonderful donation from a great bunch of workers and their company. GARDS was honoured to be the recipient of a cheque that has enabled us to buy an oxygen concentrator, 30 bed poles, an oxygen-conserving device and an oxygen bottle carrier. The equipment that has been bought with the money will allow us to support and make asbestos related disease sufferers more comfortable in their homes and help keep them with their families.

We at GARDS are very proud that the local workforce has supported local people in this manner. They are truly wonderful Australians who care about the people around them. It makes the job of GARDS so much easier when we know we have people such as these in our corner.

GARDS INC. SUPPORT

GARDS provides support and information to asbestos sufferers, their families and carers. This includes home visits by GARDS volunteers, a telephone information/support service 24 hours, 7 days a week. GARDS has an office, which is open for sufferers, their families, carers and the general community to access at the times listed below in the "About GARDS Inc section"

GARDS INC. Support also conducts a monthly meeting (1.30pm – 3.30pm) on the last Tuesday of the month) where guest presenters are invited to provide information about support services of all kinds and any other topics of interest that the members might find of relevance. The meetings also provide a gathering place for experiences; GARDS Support is open to anyone whose lives have been affected by asbestos, their families and the general public.

GARDS loans out free of charge to asbestos sufferers - oxygen bottle regulators, conserving devices, oxygen home concentrators, wheel chairs, oxygen bottle carriers, nebuliser, walking frames & walking sticks. We also have an extensive library of books, DVDs and CDs on asbestos issues, health, social and environmental that we loan free of charge to those wishing to improve their knowledge

GARDS can provide professional counselling free of charge for those who have been diagnosed with asbestos related disease and also their family members with a qualified psychologist. This support can be face to face or in a group situation, which is conducted in a private room at the GARDS premises, or telephone counselling can be arranged if this is preferred.

GARDS INC. EVENING MEETING

GARDS has an organisational, activities and advocating arm. Interested financial members can come along to evening meetings, which are, conducted 7.30pm – 9.30pm on the third Tuesday of the month.

These meetings provide a focal point for information sharing and problem identification. The aim of this group is to focus on improving health and support services and any other issues deemed relevant to improving overall outcomes to asbestos sufferers, their families and the general public. Thus ensuring asbestos-related issues are kept in the public eye and trying to rid our environment of asbestos products.
